Bob, just pinging you on the below. We plan on refileing the answer with the affirmative defenses served on you several months ago attached by the end of the week. Thanks.

Okay. On an unrelated issue, we did not restate our affirmative defenses to our answer on Friday since we had previously served those per court order and are providing rog responses on them tomorrow. I am not sure they need to be restated, but noticed others did. We are contemplating refilling just to be consistent. Do you have any opposition?

Txs.

I don't think we would object to that. Although, I see this motion as really pro forma. The other option would be to not oppose leave and we can agree on a briefing schedule that gives you more than the default 21 days to respond.
